YOUR LIFE IN NUMBERS

The Celestial Vibration of Your Personal Year

What Is a Personal Year Number?

Have you ever wondered why life seems to go along smoothly and then wham, the unexpected happens? Perhaps things you have wanted to happen for years suddenly manifest in your life for no apparent reason.

- Out of the blue, the love of your life comes in just when you weren’t searching for him or her.
- Suddenly, you get a whim to renovate your home when it seemed just fine to you before.
- Perhaps a friendship drops away, and you can’t understand why.
- You start thinking of your spiritual side and want to find out more about it when prior to that, you could have cared less.
- You want to stay close to home when you normally love to be out gallivanting around.
- A sudden urge to find a new job enters your thoughts when previously you were content to stay where you were.

All these things and much more can be explained by your Personal Year Number.

Everything in the universe resonates with energy. Every object, whether living or inanimate, has its own unique vibration. These vibrations also surround us and permeate our lives, causing certain things to happen. In numerology, these cyclic vibrations are called personal year numbers, and each number is imbued with certain characteristics. For example, when a person reaches a number 9 personal year, he or she is ready to enter into a brand new 9-year cycle.

Everyone continually experiences the effects of these cycles, whether they have an understanding of numerology or not. Learning about a current vibrational cycle helps to explain what is going on in your life and why.

This report will reveal to you how easy it is to configure your current personal year number. Each personal year is a twelve-month cycle of energy lasting from one birthday to the next. The following meanings are meant to be general in nature, but I’m sure you will find them close to the mark. It is important to understand, however, that the meanings are not set in stone. They are to be considered as guidelines only.

For additional information about your personal year number, check the meaning for the year just past and then the meaning for the next year after the current personal year you are in. This helps to present a larger picture of what is going on in your life.

How to Calculate Your Personal Year Number

Because the personal year numbers in numerology range from 1 to 9, you will be reducing the total sum of the numbers to a single digit to determine the personal year you are in. Don’t let the simple math scare you. It’s very easy to do.

Here’s a simple explanation of how to figure out your current personal year number.

To begin, jot down the numbers of your birth month, the day of your birth, and the current calendar year. All of these you will be reducing and adding together. Here’s how:

\[ \text{Your birth month + your birth date + the current calendar year} \]

Each birth month is a number from 1–12. We all know this. For years that have double digits, such as December, the number needs to be reduced down to a single digit. This is accomplished by adding 1+2, which equals 3.

I have a friend whose birth month is November, which is the 11th month. He wants to know what his current personal year number is. The steps he needs to take to determine this are as follows:

- To begin, he would add the 1 and 1, which equals 2 (1+1=2).
- His birth date is the 13th, so he would add the 1 to the 3, which equals 4.
- The current year is 2013. So, he would add the 2+0+1+3, which equals 6.
- Next, he added all the reduced numbers of 2+4+6, which equals 12.
- Because the 12 needs to be reduced to a single digit, he added 1+2, which equals 3, and he determined that his personal year number is 3.

My friend is currently experiencing the personal year number of 3 and will be going into a personal year number of 4 on his next birthday. Some months and birth dates are already single digits, so you don’t have to reduce them.)

Here is a table showing how he did it:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>His Birth Month: 11</th>
<th>His Birth Date: 13</th>
<th>Current Calendar Year: 2013</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Below he reduced them down:</td>

<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Birth Month: 1+1 equals 2</td>
<td>Birth date: 1+3 equals 4</td>
<td>Current year: 2+0+1+3 equals 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>He then added the 2+4+6 which equals 12</td>
<td></td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>He then reduced the 12 to a single digit: 1+2 equals 3 and he got his personal year number of 3</td>

The Meanings of Personal Years Numbers

A Personal Year 1:

The key words for a personal year 1 are as follows: new beginnings, setting priorities, defining goals, vitality, and new vision.

The personal year 1 is the beginning of a whole new 9-year cycle. This is a beautiful time of new beginnings and a golden opportunity to start over with a clean slate. Any plans and work that you do during this year will form a solid foundation for the next 8 years. This is a time for showing courage and taking risks. A 1 personal year also brings added vitality and emotional strength to accomplish what must be done. This year should be considered one of grand adventure because many new and wonderful opportunities will come your way. Of course, there will be some challenges, but you will handle them beautifully. Past disappointments and roadblocks seem to be magically washed away during this time. Many situations that have concerned you for the past 9 years are no longer in the forefront of your thinking. This is a favorable time to clarify and set new goals. If you feel a resistance toward making necessary changes, some prospects may have to wait until the next 9-year cycle. There may be periods of hard work, however. This may involve getting a new venture up and running. In fact, you may find your future plans and priorities have changed completely.

A Personal Year 2:

The key words for a personal year 2 are as follows: cooperation, adaptability, consideration of others, partnering, mediating, romantic relationships, and finding balance, patience, and solutions.

The personal year 2 is a time in which you will find yourself doing a balancing act. During this time, you will be working on projects started in year one. Still, the fruits of some projects may not come about in the near future. Be prepared for a few delays and detours, but also be aware that the efforts you make at this time will pay off. Forcing issues in your life will solve nothing. Others’ situations and emotions are important to you, and you want to be a good friend or a caring family member by listening and providing support. You may end up being the go-between in situations of conflict. The caution here is not to become too enmeshed and try to fix everyone’s problems. During this year, there may be a tendency toward feeling self-pity or low self-esteem at times, but you will overcome all emotional situations by focusing on helping others and building solid reciprocal relationships. Adopting an attitude of calm and serenity will benefit you greatly during times of stress, tension, and emotional extremes. This could be a year of finding a new love relationship or forming a long-lasting friendship. If you are already in a committed relationship, there will be a deepening of emotions and a recommitment in your heart and mind.
A Personal Year 3:

The key words for a personal year 3 are as follows: culmination, artistry, enthusiasm, carefree, expansiveness, social networking, old friends, creative success, and caution in finances and expenditures.

This is a time of culmination and reaping rewards. The personal year 3 is a happy year in which the fruits of your labors finally begin to pay off. Pleasant surprises and windfalls can happen in many areas of your life. You may be feeling so excited about the many wonderful things happening that others will notice a significant uplifting of your personality. This is a year you may hear from old friends and make many new ones. During a personal year 3, burdens of responsibility can be shifted elsewhere, and you begin to feel more lighthearted. This is also a time of feeling expansive. With the many opportunities flooding in, you are not sure which to pursue, and you might be tempted to do it all. Discernment and knowing your limits are the keys to maintaining a sense of stability and feeling balanced. The creative juices are flowing and you will have many inspirational thoughts concerning writing, creativity, business ideas, and devising ways to show off your unique talents. It is a time, however, to be cautious in business and hold on to your finances. The next personal year will be a much more promising time for making large expenditures.

A Personal Year 4:

The key words for a personal year 4 are as follows: foundation, home, maintenance, work, self-control, and responsibilities.

The personal year 4 is the year of the home and everything in it. You may find yourself wanting to change residences, renovate, change color schemes, or purchase new furniture. Some of these projects will be costly, but you are in a position to make them happen without straining the budget. Along with issues around the home, you will be experiencing increased responsibilities and finding better ways of organizing your priorities; fulfilling obligations and acting responsibly will become important to you. There may be times, however, when you feel as though you are going one step forward and 2 steps back. Maintaining the status quo might seem more complicated than it has in a while. The good news is that you will eventually see the logjam clear as the year progresses. This is an excellent time for revisiting goals set during personal year number 1. More mature ways of thinking and a new or more perceptive way understanding will begin to filter into your thoughts and emotions. This shift will be subtle at first, but you will have occasion to look back and see how well you handled situations that in previous years you might have mishandled. The personal year 4 is a time to solidify the foundation you have created for your life and to fully enjoy the changes made in your residence.
A Personal Year 5:

The key words for a personal year 5 are as follows: challenges, independence, overcoming, horizons expanding, freedom, friends, and connections.

The personal year 5 is the midway point in your personal 9-year cycle. When reading about the fact that there will be some significant challenges to face in year 5, a reader might groan and feel apprehensive. The truth is, challenges happen every day, and we need to face them head-on and move through them as they present themselves. This could also be a time of feeling stuck on an emotional level, but you will get back on track eventually. What occurs in this year will also cause you to deeply reflect on where you are currently in your life and perhaps encourage you to tackle the things you have wanted to accomplish for quite some time. You could even change residences. There may be a need to rethink recent goals and to substitute a few of them with new goals that are more workable. This may be a time for feeling the need for more personal freedom. This year is also good for pursuing new employment opportunities and entering into a new circle of friends. The strange part is, you may not feel like working and might develop a tendency to shirk obligations. This is definitely a time in which you will long to shed old restrictive routines. This must be carefully monitored if you want to move forward in this personal year you are in. An upside to this year is that it could bring with it a new sense of excitement, the desire to take an exotic or adventurous trip, or even to make plans to further your education.

A Personal Year 6:

The key words for a personal year 6 are as follows: wisdom, finding a soul mate, love, family relationships, communication, creativity, learning, secrets, messages, and deeper home ties.

Moving into the second phase of your 9-year cycle, a personal year 6 intensifies feelings in existing relationships and enables you to make deeper emotional connections. There may be a desire to learn how to communicate more effectively with not only your family members but also others in your outer circle. Reaffirming your commitment to family is paramount for you in this year. There could be an unexpected meeting that leads to finding your soul mate during this phase. This is a very good year to get married or engaged. Of course, these events can happen at any time, but the personal year 6 is perfect for the right person to present and for inner knowing on your part that this is the one. However, there is always the practical side to be considered because such a decision could very well involve making a lifelong commitment that should not be taken lightly. Also, a friend that you meet during this cycle is likely to become a friend for life. During this time, you may also prefer to spend more time with family or a close circle of friends. New social opportunities and events will keep your calendar full. On the work front, be aware of the energies going on around you, and do not get involved in office politics. Issues on that front may be unsettling, and you do not want to be mixed up in gossip or hiding the secrets of others. Finally, there may be a new creative personal project that you can’t wait to begin.
A Personal Year 7:

The key words for a personal year 7 are as follows: reflection, self-analysis, quietude, spiritual pursuits, institutions, illness, and solitude.

The personal year 7 can be one of introspection and adopting a cave-like existence. Even if you are normally extroverted, a personal year 7 could put you in the mood to cocoon and enjoy your own company more. Although you won’t necessarily be shutting out others around you, you may feel like pursuing private interests and easing out of relationship pressures. This could bring about a breakup or temporary separation. A separation at this time does not have to be permanent. There may be a need for compromise, although you might not want to. A personal year 7 is like forced meditation for the psyche. This is a period of time in which you will analyze, reflect, and try to gain a deeper understanding of yourself. You may decide to shed old behaviors, end certain relationships, or seek help for self-destructive behaviors or addictions that you realize are doing you harm and preventing personal growth. This year truly favors any kind of self-improvement, such as seeking therapy or finding some sort of a spiritual life. Giving yourself permission to make the changes required without assuming guilt or feeling weak minded is paramount. Those around you may find you somewhat standoffish during this phase, but offering reassurances that all is well will go a long way toward soothing any hurt feelings. Any kind of writing or research you can do will greatly benefit you at this time as well.

A Personal Year 8:

The key words for a personal year 8 are as follows: health, wealth, self-empowerment, abundance, and, as I like to say, power, power, and more power.

A personal year 8 is a potent time for all sorts of favorable financial endeavors and windfalls to come your way. Some of them just seem to drop into your lap. After the restrictive quietude of personal year 7, this year usually provides all aspects of your life with a significant power boost, especially your career and financial matters. Although buying a new home, finding a new job, or putting a business plan into action have been mentioned in previous personal years, this year has all the auspicious signs attached so that you can achieve extremely successful results. It’s the pinnacle of success you have been working toward for many years. While in a personal year 8, you will be more attractive and magnetic to others. Some personal year 8 people find themselves placed in positions of greater authority. It’s almost as if others expect you to lead. If you normally make vast amounts of money, you will draw in even more abundance during this prosperous cycle. Of course, not everyone becomes super rich in a personal year 8, but the potential is there for you to do something great. Use your power wisely!
A Personal Year 9:

The key words for a personal year 9 are as follows: closure, completion, endings, personal inventory, letting go, reaching out, tidying up loose ends, and the end of a cycle.

A personal year 9 is considered to be a year of endings. Don’t let this scare you. It’s true that many issues and situations in your life will begin to fade or completely disappear. However, it’s all for the greater good. This year is one of completion, and it marks the culmination of everything you have wanted to accomplish during the last decade. I call this the personal year of “cleaning out the closets.” This is also a good time for taking stock of your assets—what you wish to keep and what you will relinquish. It is a perfect time for tidying up loose ends and letting go of anything that is no longer serving you. It may be an uncomfortable year for some, especially if you are unable to realize the benefits of letting go. Let’s face it. There are those who just hate change. I think there is a little bit of that in all of us. This is a year in which you may feel restless and find that things that used to interest you no longer do so. To some, it feels like a kind of death; however, this year is the precursor to new beginnings. This is the year you will think about how far you have come and where you are going. All in all, you will be clearing the decks for the next 9-year cycle.

Discover Your Life Path Number

A Life Path Number Is About Traits We Are Born With and How We Approach Life

The life path number represents you at birth—the inherent basic traits that you were born with and that you will carry with you through life. As in all numerology numbers, such as those that correspond to our name, birth date, and soul essence, there are lessons involved. Your life path number can help you understand and realize your life’s purpose. It serves you by offering direction when you are feeling lost. In short, it can help you find your place in the world.

A life path number is configured just like you would calculate a personal year with one important exception: you will use the actual year of your birth!

If you feel the numbers presented below don’t fit you very well, think again. The truth is, we often don’t know ourselves on a deep level. Be open to what you read. You might find the information inspirational enough to help you with any life problems you are experiencing right now.
The Meanings of the Life Path Numbers 1–9

Just as in life, there are negative as well as positive characteristics. In this report, we are listing only the positive traits for each life path number. These meanings are meant to be general in nature. There is so much more that makes up the total of who you are.

Life Path Number 1

The life path 1 is characterized by individualist desires, a desire to lead, independence, and the need for personal attainment.

People on life path 1 are hard workers. When a life path 1 has won a personal victory, his or her face radiates pure joy. People with positive life path 1 traits abound in creative inspiration and possess the enthusiasm and drive to accomplish a great deal. Their potential for action comes directly from the enormous depth of strength they have—both the physical and inner varieties of strength. With this strength comes utter determination and the capacity to lead. Multitasking is something they tend to be very good at, and keeping busy is important to them. As natural leaders, they have a flair for taking charge of any situation.

Life Path Number 2:

The life path 2 focuses on maintaining peace and creating harmony, balance, and diplomacy.

Life path 2 people could be creatures of habit and routine. They like their road ahead well worn and familiar. Life path 2 people rarely dispose of anything that may have any kind of value. They are very sensitive people who also have the ability to be fair and like to mediate for others. They possess a sincere concern for others; they think the best of people and want the best for them. Life path 2 people are honest and open. They are apt to excel in any group activity in which their expertise in handling and blending people can be used effectively.

Life Path Number 3:

The life path 3 focuses on expression, sociability, and creativity.

People on life path 3 can be the writers, speakers, artists, and entertainers of this world. They are vibrant, effervescent people with very optimistic attitudes. The life path 3 people possess an abundance of creative skills, such as writing, speaking, acting, and similar endeavors. They are excellent painters, interior decorators, landscapers, and even composers. They are very sociable and search for like-minded people to share their interests in art. Warm and friendly, they are good conversationalists and open with their opinions; their approaches to life tend to be exceedingly positive, and their dispositions are almost always sunny. Life path number 3 people need to be careful with their money and stash some away because they really believe it grows on trees!
Life Path Number 4:

The life path 4 focuses on security, the home, loyalty, tenacity, practicality, and organization.

The life path 4 is a trustworthy, practical, and down-to-earth individual. They are excellent organizers because of their innate ability to view things in a very practical way. They are finishers of whatever they take on. Once a decision is made, it will be followed through to the conclusion. Life path 4 people are the most dependable people anyone could know. With patience and determination, they can achieve great success in life. They are sometimes very set in their ways but are determined to handle whatever is presented to them.

Life Path Number 5:

The life path 5 focuses on freedom, fun, adventure, motivation, and seeking answers.

A life path 5 person is usually very versatile, adventurous, and progressive. A 5’s personality can be cavalier, with a live-for-today way of thinking and without worrying too much about tomorrow. It is important for them to mix with like-minded people and to avoid those who are too serious and demanding. Work life should involve a job that provides thought-provoking tasks rather than routine and redundant responsibilities. They do best dealing with people, but the important thing is that they have the freedom to express themselves at all times. They have an innate ability to think through complex matters, analyzing them with lightning speed, but then they are off to something new.

Life Path Number 6:

The life path 6 focuses on nurturing, idealism, balance, compassion, and responsibility.

Wisdom, balance, and understanding are the cornerstones of this life path. The life path 6 usually presents to the world a strong sense of dependability. They are idealistic and must feel useful to be happy. They make great friends. Their main contribution in life is to offer sound advice and be of service to others. Life path 6 people often take on the burdens of those around them and are always ready to assist. This life path 6 person often displays leadership characteristics by example and taking on responsibility. While a 6 may assume huge responsibilities in the community, life truly revolves around the immediate home and family.

Life Path Number 7:

The life path 7 focuses on peace, solitude, spirituality, study, intellect, and knowledge.

This is a very cerebral and intellectual number. Life path 7 people have a love of natural beauty: the ocean, green grass, plants, flowers, birds, butterflies, and sweet little animals. They give off an air of mystery and do not want people to know who they really are. They are often psychic and believe in otherworldly places and entities. They aren’t ones to have a wide circle of acquaintances, but once they accept someone as a friend, it’s for life. They are very thorough and complete in their work and can sometimes be annoying perfectionists, expecting others to meet their same high standards of performance. Their reserve is often mistaken as snobbery, which is not usually the case. A life path 7 person is an affectionate soul underneath but is reserved and analytical by nature. The strength of the life path 7 is reflected in the depth of thinking that he or she sometimes reveals to others.
Life Path Number 8:

The life path 8 focuses on financial security, power, materialism, and success.

Life path number 8 people are focused on learning the satisfactions found in the material world. The life path 8 produces many powerful, confident, and materially successful people. They are apt to be forceful and competitive. Their routine is involved in practical, down-to-earth affairs, and there is little time for daydreaming. Life path 8 people are well equipped for competition in the business world or in other competitive fields of endeavor. They know how to manage themselves and their environment with the courage of their convictions when it comes to taking the necessary risks to get ahead. This life path is perhaps the one that is the most concerned with and desirous of status as part of showing the world their material success.

Life Path Number 9:

The life path 9 focuses on compassion, generosity, and humanitarianism.

The keys to the nature of a life path number 9 person are sensitivity, feeling, and compassion. Usually, this number produces an individual who is very trustworthy and honorable. The 9, being the highest of the single-digit numbers, holds an elevated position in life that involves carrying certain heavy responsibilities. The purpose in life for those with a 9 life path is of a philosophical nature. Judges, spiritual leaders, healers, and educators frequently have much of the energy of a life path 9. Material gains are not overly important, although the qualities of some life path 9 people are such that they are materially rewarded in very significant ways. Often, a number 9 life path requires a very selfless attitude and the giving up of material possessions for the common good. Even the most average of those with life path 9 possesses extremely compassionate tendencies. The desire to help others, especially the troubled or underprivileged, is strong. They have the ability to make friends very easily.
